

Nehemiah Gateway News

Nuremberg, March 2014

Dear Friends of Nehemiah Gateway,

First of all, we have a very nice piece of news for you: We are able to help the special school for disabled children in Kalamata, Greece, by assisting with the completion of a room for autistic children. Here they will be given drawing lessons and also be able to pursue other creative activities which promote their development and well-being. ...more...

Best wishes from Nuremberg – your Nehemiah Gateway Team and Anja Römer-Zwacknagl!

Rescue packages arrived in Greece

"We are very grateful. Extremely so. You in Germany probably cannot even imagine how much you are helping us. The hardship in Greece has reached a level that leaves us speechless," says Father Gabriel, abbot at the Metamorphosis monastery, who is deeply touched by the relief efforts from Franconia. ### International Women's Day at the Amaro Tan School

This special day was celebrated by Albanian and German women together. Some told their life stories, which had not always been easy. Especially women from the Sinti and Roma community often suffer through difficult family situations. Here Amaro Tan School helps through education and vocational training for girls.

Study trip to Germany

Our graduate students have visited various institutions, educational establishments and cities in Germany to gain insight into German education systems, culture, traditions and politics. A highlight of the trip was a visit to the Bundestag. ...more...

Promotion of the dual system

NEHEMIA Foundation Albania together with the local employment and educational institutions is particularly interested in further expanding the dual system. In the long term, this is to meet the local and regional market needs for skilled workers and to stimulate the employment process.
